Tree giveaway

The Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club will hold their annual Free Tree Giveaway THIS Saturday, Feb. 5 from 11 a.m. until the 3,000 Monterey Pine seedlings are gone.

Chairman Bob Klingel and fellow Kiwanians invite the public to join in this traditional "Beautify Carmel Valley Project."

Seminar attendees

Representatives of both Mid-Valley and Carmel Valley Fire Departments attended the day long Emergency Medical Technician I Seminar Saturday at Monterey Peninsula College.

Coordinated by Dr. Saul Kurtz of Eskaton Monterey Hospital, the firemen received instruction and demonstrations of techniques from members of the Monterey, Carmel and Pacific Grove departments as well as registered nurses from both hospital's emergency and intensive care units.

Dr. Jack Stein of Carmel Valley, a Monterey orthopedic surgeon, was guest speaker for the seminar.

Mike Ellsworth, chief of the Mid-Valley station, had high praise for the instruction which will be offered on a monthly basis and felt it of particular benefit to their department which is just beginning a new rescue unit. Attending with Chief Ellsworth were Chip Plomteaux, Sydney Pryor, Val Evans, Marge Kohler and Jim McCabe.

Engineer Kalani Fonseca, training officer of the CV Department, was enthusiastic about the input and interest from the overall number who attended and he felt that the exchange of methods of operation from other rescue squads and the demonstration of new equipment an invaluable training update. Also attending from the Carmel Valley Department were Bill Owen, Dan Weiss and Jeffrey Frye.

Pops concert

Selections ranging from melodies from "My Fair Lady" and "Mary Poppins" to "Candy Man" and "Summertime" were presented by the Concert and Stage Bands at the Padre Pops Concert presented in the Donald Craig Gymnasium at Carmel High School under the direction of Henry Avila.

Sitting in with the young musicians were adult guest performers: Herb Miller, Jerry Henares and Bob Macy.

Drawings for the "Grand Prise" — a benefit chaired by Gaudenz Panholzer with proceeds earmarked for the Band trip were held at intermission. Winners included: first prize, $300, Marty Wise of Carmel Valley; second prize, 300 pounds of choice beef, Elaine Taylor, Carmel Valley; and third prize, a $150 CB Radio, won by Village Electric in Carmel.

Letters

Dear Editor:

I am most distressed, as will many other interested citizens be, at the time and place selected for the public hearing on the Army's plan to use 1080 poison on Ft. Hunter Liggett and Camp Roberts to kill the ground squirrels.

This is a very serious matter, as evidenced by the massive Environmental Impact Statement which the Army has secured and should be given the broadest possible public exposure.

The selection of a night meeting, on a week night (Thursday, Feb. 24), in King City, will prevent very many interested citizens from attending. King City is far from the bulk of the population in Monterey County, which makes it hard for most people to get to. Many people will not want to make such a drive at night — many people would have to drive alone, which is intimidating. School children, school teachers, people who have to get up to go to work the next day, will find it impossible to drive to King City at night.

Furthermore, to make this a night meeting automatically limits the time of the discussion, so that few people will be able to take part.

This scheduling is, I am sure you will agree, not in the interests of the Department of the Army's good public relations — it could almost be considered an act hostile to the public.

I trust that the meeting to discuss the Army's project of using 1080 in Monterey County public lands will be changed to an all-day meeting on a Saturday, at a central location.

Padres sweep two; 6-0 in league

BY NANCY FLEMING

The Carmel High Padres, crushing their latest two opponents with 58-38 and 91-35 victories, seem to be defending their MTAL and CCS Region IV titles with ease. Carmel now has a perfect 6-0 league record and is 16-2 overall.

The Padres had a slow start against King City and were down 9-11 at the end of the first period but picked up their momentum to outscore King City 21-3 in the second. Carmel made 8 of 12 shots from the floor for 66 per cent while King City was held to only 1 of 10 for 10 per cent, with the halftime score 30-14.

Carmel continued outscoring the Mustangs in the third quarter sinking 73 per cent of their shots while King City found it almost impossible to penetrate the Padres' zone defense hitting on only 40 per cent.

King City attempted a comeback in the fourth quarter racking up 18 points but still wound up 20 points behind with the final score 58-38.

King City's all-league Matt Madson led the scoring with 19 and Carmel's Doug Weller was next with 14.

The Carmel Padres made Peninsula basketball history with their latest game, wiping out Hollister High with a stunning 91-35 victory in Hollister. The Padres totally humiliated the Balers with their outstanding offense, scoring 25 to Hollister's six points in the first period, 25-4 in the third and 22 to 7 in the fourth.

Carmel ran a smooth offense, scoring often from under the basket. Hollister, however, was forced into attempting outside shots by Carmel's tight defense which frequently kept them from scoring.

The Padres' John Frincke, Bob Pollard and Bill Colohan were the high scorers, each with 13 points. Carmel travels to Gonzales Tuesday to begin the second round of league games.

Whap-O! Another myth debunked. Another bubble popped. Whapped on a farm in Illinois.

For some time we have bragged about the state of Illinois for its testing and licensing program for blacksmiths. In many states, California among them, anyone who wants to call himself a blacksmith, a farrier, a horseshoer or whatever.

In Illinois, a would-be blacksmith appears before a board of examiners for a rigorous four-part test. He takes a written exam, diagnoses horse's hoof problems and treats them, and demonstrates his skill with forge and anvil. It is reported, that those who fail, mostly fail at this last part — how they handle hot metal in their forge and on their anvil.

That sounds peachy and we figured that horses in Illinois have got to have the best cared for feet of any in the nation. But we were in Illinois a couple of weeks ago and in for a rude surprise.

We saw horses with neglected feet including a couple which had been turned out to pasture and retired from active use because their feet had grown so long that the hooves turned up like Persian slippers. It fretted the farmer to be feeding useless animals but the nearest blacksmith was "way down to Montrose and he won't come anyhow. He makes a good living just shoeing race horses there."

Apparently Illinois licenses some very good blacksmiths but not enough of them. We ended up advising the farmer to buy some tools and have at the feet of his horses in the same spirit he trims the hogs hooves. Neglect is the very worst thing that can happen to a horses hooves; almost anything else in the way of amateur trimming is better just by definition.

Of course Illinois isn't the only place we've seen horses with neglected feet — and scarcity of blacksmiths isn't the only reason. We've seen horses with their feet in very sorry state right here in Central California which also has a number of very excellent blacksmiths.

A blacksmith who bends over horses all day has a very demanding job physically. That's a terrible position to have to work in — and to do it every day strains the back and sets up conditions that make the job harder, not easier. Also a blacksmith has to be a super horseman to be able to deal with the variety of hooves and problems that come his way. And unlike the businessman who sits and waits for customers to come to him, the blacksmith has to go out in the boonies where his clients are — sometimes on an impossible schedule too. Boy, does a blacksmith earn his money the hard way! He deserves every penny and he deserves it right on the spot without having to wait for it.

But maybe the horseowner just can't afford the blacksmith this month — or hasn't been able to get horse and blacksmith in the same place at the same time. Not very many months like this have to go by before the horse begins to suffer from the growth of his own untrimmed hooves. They grow about one-quarter inch every month. By the time they've added half an inch, they have to be trimmed back or the danger of contracted heels, strained tendons, etc. gets to be very real.

If a horseowner can't afford a new set of shoes every six to eight weeks, then it's better to just keep the horse barefoot. If a horseowner can't afford to have the blacksmith trim his horse every six to eight weeks, he should buy himself a rasp and try to even up the edges at least and file down the high spots until the blacksmith can do it right.

A rasp costs about the same as a bale of hay and can often be bought the same place that hay is sold. Keep it wrapped in cloth and inside a plastic bag to keep it dry and free from rust. Never lay it on the ground; that's the way to let it lose its sharpness. For all practical purposes, rasps can't be sharpened so it's worthwhile protecting their working serfaces.

Gene Harper, Salinas horseshoer, advises rasping from toe to heel as you hold the hoof between your knees. Then, for a barefoot horse, he bevels the edge of the hoof all the way around so that it is less likely to chip.

For horses with lopsided feet, the rule of thumb is "Trim the side that points."

Community Chapel

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will hold its "Birthday month" meeting on Feb. 9, at 12:15 p.m. in Fellowship Hall on Village Drive. February is the month in which the Guild was organized many years ago, and each year members celebrate the time by donating an amount equal to their age in support of the Guild's adoptive children. A dessert of birthday cake will be served with Mrs. John S. Power as chairman, assisted by Mrs. David Hoisington, Mrs. Chas B. Richmond, Mrs. Thomas Verga and Mrs. Paul Edwards.

The program will be given by Mrs. Dorothy Steven, librarian of the Monterey Public Library. She will give a review of the book "Nineteen Steps up the Mountain" by Joseph P. Blank, which is an inspiring story of the DeBolt family who adopted all the children of many races, nationalities and with many handicaps. She will also give a short review of two books which are lighter and in a humorous vein. The first of these, "I remain your Uncle Ambrogio," by Gene Horowitz, then "My Friends George and Tom," by Jane Duncan, which is a delightful story in a Scottish series. Mrs. Steven has been with the library since 1966.

The Chapel Guild always welcomes all women in the area to come and join them for the dessert and what promises to be a delightful program.

Garden Club

Another informative program has been planned by the Carmel Valley Garden Association when they meet on Thursday, Feb. 10, 8 p.m. in the Tularcitos multipurpose room.

The featured speaker will be Gerda Isenberg who owns a fern nursery in Redwood City. Mrs. Isenberg will share her knowledge of California and non-native ferns. She writes for various gardening publications on the subject of ferns and will welcome questions from Valley gardeners.

Garden Association meetings are open to the public without charge and everyone interested in gardening is invited to attend the programs and remain for the refreshment hour which follows.

Love-A-Fair

Requests for donations of treasures to be sold at the Feb. 9 "Love-A-Fair and Valentine Tea" to benefit Friends of Hidden Valley brought some exciting items including elegant costume jewelry, valuable prints, two Rudolph Alt photographs, beautiful silver including a complete tea service, and lovely jewel boxes, including one small enamel Limoges.

Hostesses for the affair which will be held from 1:30-4:30 p.m. in the Hidden Valley Theater will include: Mmes. Thomas Kenan, Ben Harrell, Jack Kaikes, Dorothy Soderini, Harry Lusignan, Robert Kirwan, John Roland, John Robotti, Paul Elliott, Harold Miller, Harwell Dyer, Van Court Warren, Charles Davis, and John Fuess. Also Miss Anne Burrows and Miss Helene Boughton. Donations are $2 per guest.

CHS band benefit

The California State University, Long Beach, Symphony Orchestra will present a concert on Saturday, Feb. 12, 8 p.m. in the Carmel Sunset Cultural Center benefiting the travel fund for the Carmel High School Band.

Under the direction of Hans Lampl, the works of Wagner, Rorem, Copland and Brahms will be presented.

Tickets are available through the CHS Music Department or may be purchased at the door. Donations are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

St. Dunstan's benefit

The theme "Snowballs" contrasted with the sundrenched January benefit sponsored by the ladies of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church who held their first bridge and canasta party of the year at the Flight Road home of Mrs. Philip Walker.

Pouring at the coffee table were Mary Young and Fran Wilson, while guests enjoyed the miniature fruit cakes, tea cakes and chocolate dipped tangerines prepared by the hostess.

Camellia corsages and white vases filled with blossoms and snowballs were presented as table prizes to: Bira Wells, Edna Lewis, Muriel Dawson, Bernice Leoni, Velma List, Helga White, Esther Price, Mary Young, Fran Wilson and Stella Snyder. High point winners in bridge were Bernice Leoni and Esther Price, while Velma List and Stella Snyder placed high in canasta.

Since the scheduled date for the next party coincides with Ash Wednesday, the February party has been cancelled. The new party date will be March 30 and reservations may be phoned at any time to Mrs. Walker, 659-2280, who will once again serve as hostess.

Buckeye 4-H dance

Multi-colored balloons and streamers transformed the Tularcitos multi-purpose room into a festive setting for the Square Dance sponsored by the Buckeye 4-H Club. Members, families, and guests danced to the calls of Vaquero caller, Bernard Jones and rested between dances — western style — on hay bales furnished by Bob Wilson. Ashley Swanson, chairman of the club's first social event of the year, presented a plant to Mr. Jones and expressed the appreciation of the group for his help in making the occasion so successful.

Liz Weiss, Buckeye reported, writes: "Buckeye 4-H's Square Dance was really successful! More than 100 youngsters, parents, and friends from Boronda 4-H, San Benacio 4-H, Aromas 4-H, and Coral de Tierra joined the Buckeyes for an evening of dancing. A special thanks to Aromas Square Dance group, and Dr. and Mrs. Ed Arana and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Swanson for keeping those hot dogs coming and making sure everyone had a great time. A very special thanks to Bernard Jones for being the caller and teacher. We are looking forward to having another Square Dance party in the future."

MPVS officers

Mrs. John S. Power, Country Club Way, was presented a miniature gavel charm bracelet in recognition of her two successful terms as president of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services at a luncheon held last week at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. The success of her 1975 presidency exceeded the year 1974 when it was announced that the organization had donated during the past year a total of $38,404.65 to local charities.

During the luncheon, the 1977 board was introduced: Mrs. A.F. Anderson, Pebble Beach, president; Mrs. Thomas Hardy, Carmel, vice president; Mrs. Howard Evans, Carmel, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Best, Carmel, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Flaherty, Carmel Valley, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John Power, advisor and parlimentarian.

Chamber Music Society

String concert Saturday

The French Trio with Georges Pludermacher, pianist, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5, in Sunset Auditorium. This will be the fourth concert of the season sponsored by the Chamber Music Society of the Monterey Peninsula.

In 1959 Gerard Jarry, violinist, Serge Collot, violist, and Mishel Tournus, cellist, each a virtuoso in his own right, and drawn together by a mutual desire to perform chamber music, founded the French String Trio. They have given concerts in Europe, Africa, South America, and Scandinavia.

Gerard Jarry, at age 15 won the grand prize at the Marguerite Long-Jacques Thibaud International competition which launched his career as a concert violinist. Serge Collot, violist, began his formal training at the Paris Conservatory where he is now a professor of viola. He is also a professor of chamber music at the Academie Internationale d-Ete in Nice. He was one of the original members of the Parrenis Quartet founded in 1942, and was a moving force in the founding of "Les Concerts du Domain Musical." Michel Tournus, cellist, has studied the cello and piano since age five and has appeared as soloist with orchestras throughout Europe.

Georges Pludermacher, pianist, 31 years of age, is a student at the National Conservatory of France. He has appeared in France and abroad as both recitalist and in combination with other ensembles such as the National Orchestra, The Royal Philharmonic in London, and the Orchestre de Paris, under the baton of Solti.

He was piano partner to Christian Ferras, and toured with Nathan Milstein in Europe and America in 1973, and has appeared with the French String Trio in concerts throughout Europe. He has premiered new works such as "Herma" and "Synaphai" by Xenakis in 1963.

The French String Trio, together with their piano partner Georges Pludermacher will present a program Saturday evening including Beethoven's "Serenade in D major, Opus 8," Mozart's "Quartet in G minor K 478," and Schumann's "Quartet in E flat, Opus 47." Tickets for the concert Saturday evening may be purchased at the door.

THE FRENCH STRING TRIO will perform in concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5 in the Sunset Center Auditorium.

'Tempest' ends run

Shakespeare's "The Tempest" closes its two week run in the Monterey Peninsula College Standing Room Only Theatre this week with performances at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 3, 4, 5, and 6.

MPC Players director Ramie Wikdahl said the SRO production blends the Asian Theatre and commedia dell' arte to add to the theatre experience. The story takes place on an island where Prospero rules with white magic. Through his magic and wisdom he teaches others and himself of love and humanity.

Reservations are suggested and may be made by calling the MPC Box Office at 375-0455 after 5 p.m. General admission is $1.50 and $1 for students and military.

Shaw plays to open

George Bernard Shaw's views of two famous men will be seen at the Forest Theater In the Ground when the Staff Players open their next production "Two by Shaw" Friday, Feb. 4 at 8:30.

The bill opens with "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," Shaw's fantasy on William Shakespeare's midnight encounter with an unknown lady of the court on the parapet of Whitehall.

"Man of Destiny" shows the young Napolean Bonaparte, fresh from his great victory at Lodi. In a rustic Italian Inn, the future Emperor meets an equally exuberant and resourceful lady.

In both, Irishman George Bernard Shaw, exercises his wits at the expense of the English, sharing with his audiences his amusing observations of the 20th century.

"Two by Shaw" is directed by Marcia Gambrell Hovick, costumes by Loel Shuler, with set designs and lighting by William Lewis. The plays will run from Feb. 4 to March 13 at the Forest Theater in the Ground in Carmel, starting at 8:30, with a special Feb. 27 matinee at 2:30. For information call the Children's Experimental Theatre at 624-1531.

"SPOTTED DOVES" by Keith Henderson is part of the current exhibit of watercolors in Sunset Center's Marjorie Evans Gallery. The exhibit will remain open to the public until Feb. 10. The works on display were provided by the English Royal Watercolour Society.

Dance concert on tap at MPC Friday

Dancer and choreographer Raymond Johnson will bring his dance company to Monterey Peninsula College on Friday, Feb. 4 for a performance in the MPC Theatre at 8 p.m.

Johnson won acclaim as a solo dancer before forming his young company which has been touring extensively in the country for the last three years. It performs works by several choreographers as well as the stimulating choreography of its own artistic director and conducts residency concerts, improvisation workshops and classes.

The MPC performance is the second in three MPC Festival of Dance presentations. Admission is $2.50.

Shaw film set Feb. 8

George Bernard Shaw's classic satire of love and war, "Arms and the Man" has been made into a comic film.

Set in the 1890s, during the war between the Bulgarians and Serbs, Serb Captain Bluntschli flees from the advancing enemy soldiers, and ends up taking refuge in the bedroom of a Bulgarian lieutenant's fiancee. Complications build rapidly as Bluntschli falls in love with the girl, and reveals that her betrhthed is not as brave as she thinks.

The popular musical "The Chocolate Soldier" was based on Shaw's play. "Arms and the Man" is part of the Classic Theatre Film Festival at Sunset Center Theatre and will be showing Tuesday, Feb. 8 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the box office one half hour before curtain.

THE CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL BAND is still far short of the $15,000 needed for the group's planned trip to Mexico City in May. Band director Henry Avila says he's confident of reaching the goal and adds that some parents will pay full expenses for their children. He's not sure how many parents will pay the approximately $300 per student necessary. The band plans a number of fund raisers in the near future, including the California State University at Long Beach Symphony Orchestra concert on Saturday, Feb. 12 at 8 p.m. in the Sunset Center Auditorium. Tickets for the concert ($2 adults, $1 students) may be purchased through the CHS music department or at the door. Among other things planned for the future are a variety show, adult dance, fashion show and the rummage sale in March. Avila says the band will make a decision in mid-February on prospects for reaching the fund raising goal and whether to continue plans for the trip. The CSULB Orchestra concert will include works of Wagner, Johannes Brahms, Aaron Copland and Ned Rorem.

School board

CSEA contract hearing scheduled

A public hearing has been scheduled for Feb. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the Middle School library on a contract proposal by the classified employes of the Carmel Unified School District.

The 84-page proposed contract calls for automatic cost of living increases annually based upon the Bureau of Labor Statistics consumer price index for the San Francisco-Oakland area. The proposal also asks that the district assume full expenses for health and welfare fringe benefits including medical and dental care insurance packages.

The proposal is the first formal contract presented to the CUSD under the state's new collective bargaining law for school district employes. The contract includes 31 separate sections dealing with all facets of employe rights and benefits. A copy of the contract is available to interested individuals at the district office.

Harris Taylor, superintendent of schools, told the school board recently that the contract proposal includes several new areas not previously covered. After the public hearing, Taylor said, the board will present its initial offer to the classified employes and then negotiations will begin.

At its last meeting Jan. 26, the school board heard a report from Taylor on class loading at the elementary school level.

Taylor, at the request of board member Elizabeth Bell, presented figures indicating student to teacher ratios of 23-1 at Carmelo School and 25-1 at Tularcitos School.

Taylor told the board that in order to keep pupil to teacher ratios at an arbitrary 23-1 at all elementary schools, the district would have to add three teachers at an expense of roughly $15,000 each. Taylor also pointed out that special programs in the district, like Title I at Tularcitos and Early Childhood Education at River and Tularcitos, have much lower class sizes.

Taylor explained to the board that average class size figures and pupil-teacher ratios can be misleading. The simple process of adding or reducing staff at individual schools to raise or lower class sizes may not work, he said, because of classroom limitations and the small size of elementary schools. He explained that while on paper it may work, when applying an arbitrary class size figure to schools problems occur. "Students don't come in neat little packages," he said.

CVPOA poll shows ordinance favored

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association released results of a member's poll indicating strong support for the proposed interim ordinance limiting development in the Valley until a new master plan is drawn up.

An overwhelming 96 per cent of the 285 poll responses favored limiting development in the Valley and 85 per cent favored limiting further the density of the Carmel Valley Ranch Plan.

Hanna Davidson, installed president in the meeting last Wednesday at Hacienda Carmel, suggested that members contact county officials and express their viewpoints on issues confronting the Valley.

'God's Favorite'

A social satire by Simon

By SEAN McLEOD

"God's Favorite," now showing at the Studio Theatre, is a strange choice for an intimate dinner theatre. The play is by Neil Simon, so it has some funny lines and scenes, but it isn't quite comedy and it isn't quite drama.

Simon has abbreviated the story of Job, and made it into a social satire. Much of the tragedy of the story is discarded, so the first act is insubstantial. However, Job does retain his strength and faith, so the climax has power. The humor limps along, much like a book of cartoons — a few good laughs spread through a number of ho-hums.

Some people will object to the play for its being "irreverent" (which it isn't). Other equally misguided viewers may praise it for the same reason. Larger numbers will probably just enjoy the rather simple, occasionally pungent, satire. (Simple humor — in the sense of obvious — has not been the normal characteristic of Simon's work.)

The Studio's production has at least one major problem: the actors are all too nice. There is none of the hard, sophisticated flippancy required by the roles. And Sidney, who should furnish the ridiculous contrast — as a whimsical urban reject — is just another exuberant clown.

James Jensen is very good in the title role (more prosaically, Joe Benjamin). He carries the show almost single-handedly, with much hard work and some real acting. Jensen's dramatic scenes are especially effective.

Florence Larsen is outstanding as Rose, Joe's wife. She gets a fair share of the show's laughs by simply doing her part well, rather than pushing for laughs or patronizing the character. Lisa Burroughs is also both funny and believable as the daughter Sarah.

Belle Morris, Holland McCoin, and Jon Perez do creditable jobs in supporting parts. Don Nyman as David, the oldest son, does some good bits, but sometimes drops the role completely — most notably in the drunk scenes.

Jeff Hudelson, a talented and experienced actor (the program notes remind us), is disappointing as Sidney Lipton. He does give a competent and consistent performance as God's peculiar messenger, but with a wrong characterization. Where an eager but ineffectual nerd is required, we get a bellowing boor. And the show loses much of its humor.

Director Bill Asp has staged the show well, considering the lack of appropriately hard-shelled actors. There are two major exceptions: Sidney's characterization and the uneven pacing. (For instance, when repetition is used for its gag effect, it must be done very crisply.)

Alfredo Valdez has designed an attractive and clever setting which is nearly the show's ninth character. The set may make the production seem better than it actually is. Alexei Lopukhin's special effects are also impressive.

If it does little else, this mildly amusing production of "God's Favorite" proves that the story of Job is virtually indestructible.

JAMES JENSEN, as Joe Benjamin, prepares to defend his home from a suspected burglar with the help of his son Ben (Jon Perez, left) and daughter Sarah (Lisa Burroughs, middle) in the latest comedy from the pen of Neil Simon, "God's Favorite," now on state at the Studio Theater-Restaurant. Directed by Bill Asp, "God's Favorite" plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. For reservations call the theater at 624-1661.

In other words, if the horse toes in, rasp more wall off the inside half of the hoof.

Only the hoof wall gets filed with a rasp and never, even on the beveled parts, does it get rasped lower than the part of the sole nearest the ground. In fact, the idea of the hoof wall is to lift the sole of the hoof off the ground, so leaving a quarter-inch all around is probably a good idea.

We think of the rasp as a big fingernail file and it takes no more time to file a little off the horse's fingernails than it does our own. Working in that funny position, however, does give one a keener appreciation for that fine fellow the blacksmith.

Project Community offered at CHS

By GREG MILLER

Project Community is a new course offered this year at Carmel High School. It meets every day during third and fourth periods and is taught by Jack Ellena, Lynn Hayes and Sue Williams. The class's main purpose is to involve the students in the community.

Project Community developed from the humanities class offered in past years at Carmel High. Last year it evolved into Civics in Community, taught by Ellena. This year the course added Hayes and Williams, which added new dimensions, namely English and productive arts.

The 64 students currently enrolled can receive University of California credit in four areas: contemporary U.S. History, civics, productive arts, or English. Ten credits are awarded per semester; five civics credits, while the remaining five credits can be divided among the other areas.

The first unit the class studied this year was called, "Will the Real Community Please Stand Up?" At first the class expressed what a perfect community would be like. Then they compared their ideas with the community of Carmel, and searched for similarities. Ellena invited people from the community to come in and speak with the class about Carmel.

In the unit currently being studied the students are given five areas: adventure, practical skills, creativity, logical inquiry and public service. They must choose three of these areas and do projects satisfying the chosen categories.

Five courses are scheduled at Diment Hall at the Carmel Foundation, 8th and Lincoln. Savings Rate Guide for Beginners

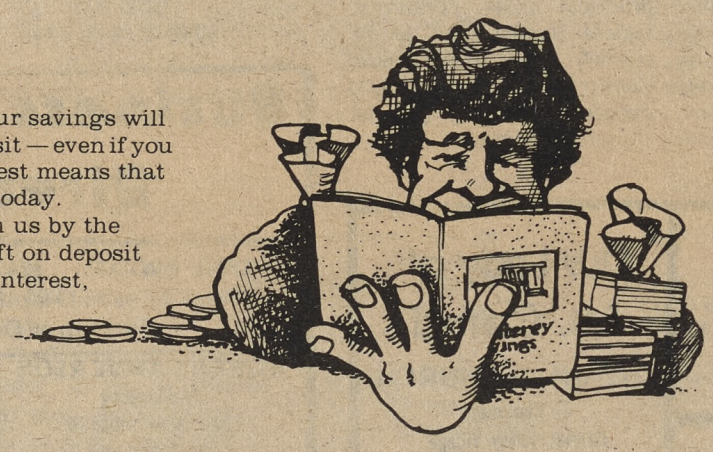
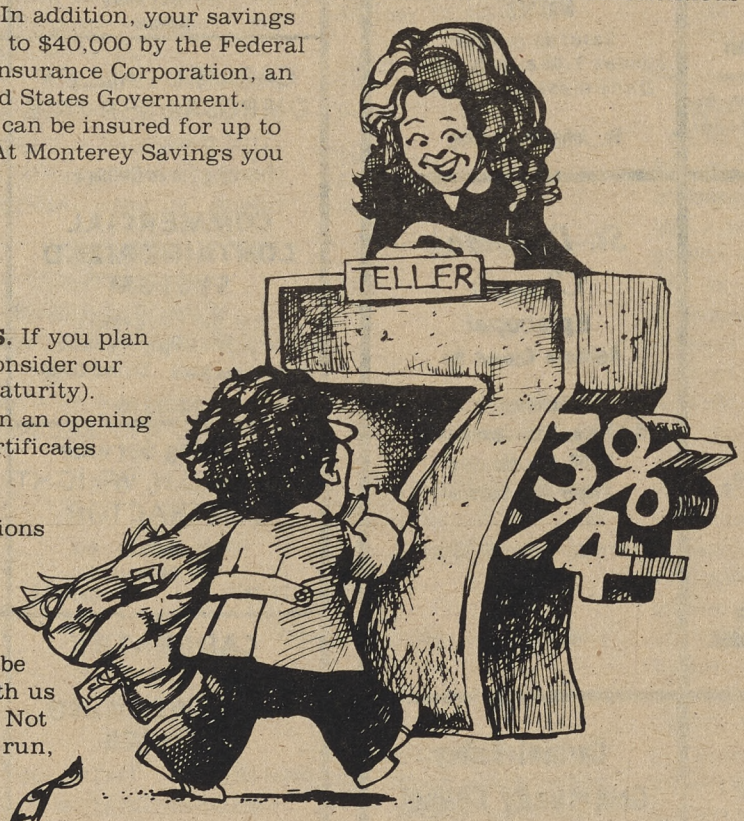
OUR REGULAR 5¼% PASSBOOK SAVINGS ACCOUNT EXPLAINED: This is the most basic and popular savings account — the account everyone thinks of when they talk about "savings." And aside from paying you 5¼% interest, compounded daily, our Passbook Account offers you flexibility. You can put your money in or take it out whenever you wish. It happens to be our best seller and a real favorite with our customers. Now, how does our 5¼% Passbook Account stack up? Well, the banks simply don't pay as high a rate for the same type of account. Many so-called "passbook accounts" are really certificates of deposit with definite restrictions. It might pay you to check on this.

DAY-TO-DAY INTEREST, WHAT IS IT? It means that your savings will earn interest, literally, for every day your money is on deposit — even if you take it out before the end of the quarter. Day-to-day interest means that you will be just a little bit richer tomorrow than you are today. And here's something else we offer: money deposited with us by the 10th of the month will earn interest from the 1st when left on deposit until the end of the quarter. That's up to 10 free days of interest, and again, a little bit richer for you.



WHAT ABOUT SAFETY ON YOUR SAVINGS? At Monterey Savings, your dollars are safeguarded by sound local investment, substantial reserves, and conscientious local management. In addition, your savings with us are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the United States Government. Combined accounts can be insured for up to $560,000. Safety? At Monterey Savings you can count on it!



HOW TO EARN AS MUCH AS 7¾% ON YOUR SAVINGS. If you plan to keep or put your savings aside for a while, you should consider our 7¾% Savings Certificate (actually, 8.06% when held to maturity). It has a minimum term requirement of six to ten years on an opening balance of $1,000 or more. Also available are Savings Certificates paying 5¾% - 6½% - 6¾% and 7½% interest. These higher interest rates are possible because of your time commitment to us with your savings. Federal regulations require an interest penalty for early withdrawals from Certificate Accounts. When it comes to saving money, come to Monterey Savings where interest is always compounded daily.

And for additional peace of mind, we think that you'll be as proud as we are to know that the dollars you save with us stay here in the Monterey Bay Area, where they belong. Not many associations can stake that claim, and in the long run, it could make your entire life a whole lot richer.
